Innovative Ideas for Supporting Christian Science Nursing

(Originally Emailed to Recipients)

Last October when Linda Kohler, President of The Mother Church (TMC), and Caroleen Scholet, Director of Christian Science Nursing Activities, came to talk to our area Christian Scientists about TMC's focus on nursing, they requested that we all become more aware of our fellow members' needs, broaden the definition of Care Committees, and better support the activity of nursing. Several follow up community meetings have taken place across the state to explore how this can be done. Here are a few ideas that have come forth.

- Local churches and societies are paying for a storage unit to keep supplies and equipment for nurses to access as needed.
- A room has been made available in someone's home for a nurse visiting the area from out of town.
- Consider providing a place for "outpatient" care in an unused area of a church.
- Several area churches may want to combine care committees to respond as one.
- Consider providing a room in a private home for someone needing nursing care.
- Consider offering very light nursing care training.

Please share with us the ideas that are coming to you, or within your church, to better support our ongoing care for each other.

Don't forget to apply to our Benevolence Fund when a financial need arises to pay for nursing care. Ninety percent of every dollar donated to Wellsprings goes directly to growing this Fund, helping to assure that nurses are paid for services rendered.

Always remember - Christian Science nurses are at the ready to assist you and your family whenever you need practical care supported by the higher law of God's healing power. Wellsprings is paying a highly experienced Christian science nurse to help you find an available nurse. Please use the contact information below, or go to our website for more details.

With much love and gratitude for our work together,
Wellsprings Executive Board
